UNIVERSITY of the
WESTERN CAPE

MISSION STATEMENT

The University of the Western Cape is a national university, alert to its African and international context as it strives to be a place of quality, a place to grow. It is committed to excellence in teaching, learning and research, to nurturing the cultural diversity of South Africa, and to responding in critical and creative ways to the needs of a society in transition.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHANCELLOR

We warmly welcome you as we celebrate the culmination of your remarkable journey at the University of the Western Cape. Today represents the beginning of a new and exciting chapter for each of our graduating students. To the parents, guardians, families, and educators who supported you, your encouragement and sacrifices have played a big role in the success of our graduands. We applaud your collective contributions.

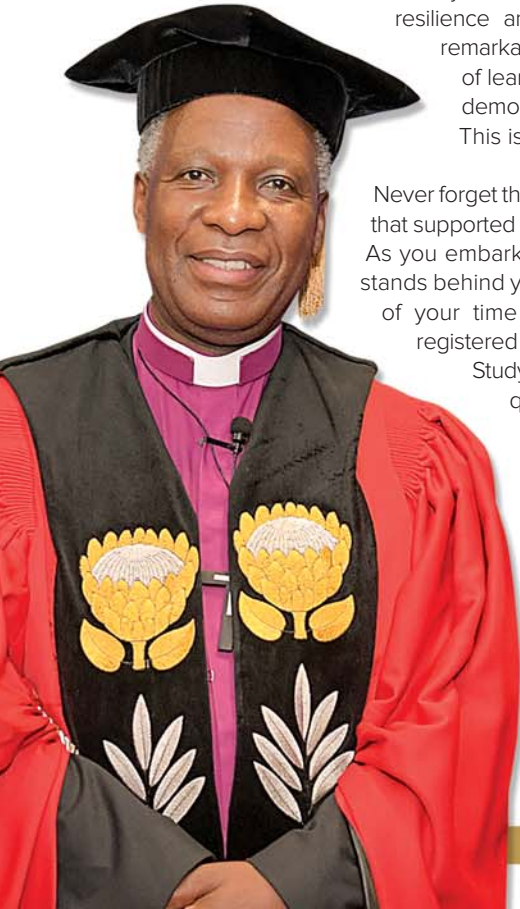

As you, the graduands, reflect on your journey to this day, remember the initial excitement, and the anxiety. From the moment of your very first lecture, to the dedication shown through countless late nights of studying. Think about how you forged lifelong friendships on campus. Acknowledge the challenges you overcame, the doubts you conquered, and the resilience that has shaped you into the person you are today. Look around you at your fellow graduands, the friends with whom you shared laughter, tears, and an incredible academic journey. Recognise the common ground you built during your time at UWC - the unspoken bonds forged through shared experiences, and how you transformed into scholars, leaders, and changemakers. Your journey at UWC has been extraordinary, marked by global and local challenges. This makes your resilience and dedication, and unflinching spirit even more remarkable. Facing disruptions, uncertainties, and new ways of learning, you contributed actively to our community by demonstrating perseverance and commitment to growth. This is a testament to your strength and character.

Never forget the transformative power of education, the community that supported your dreams, and the values that shaped your path. As you embark on your new journey, know that the UWC family stands behind you, forever connected by the shared experiences of your time here. A final word: please make sure you are registered to vote in this year's national and provincial elections.

Study the manifestos of the various parties, evaluate the quality of their leaders, and use your vote wisely. The future of South Africa depends on it.

Congratulations, Class of 2024. The world awaits you, and I have no doubt that you will rise to the challenge.

THE MOST REVEREND DR THABO CECIL MAKGOBA
UWC CHANCELLOR

MESSAGE FROM THE RECTOR

As we celebrate this significant occasion in the life of the University of the Western Cape, I am filled with an overwhelming sense of pride and gratitude for what you, our graduating class of 2024 has accomplished. This graduation ceremony is a special moment that serves as a poignant reminder of our collective resilience and enduring spirit.

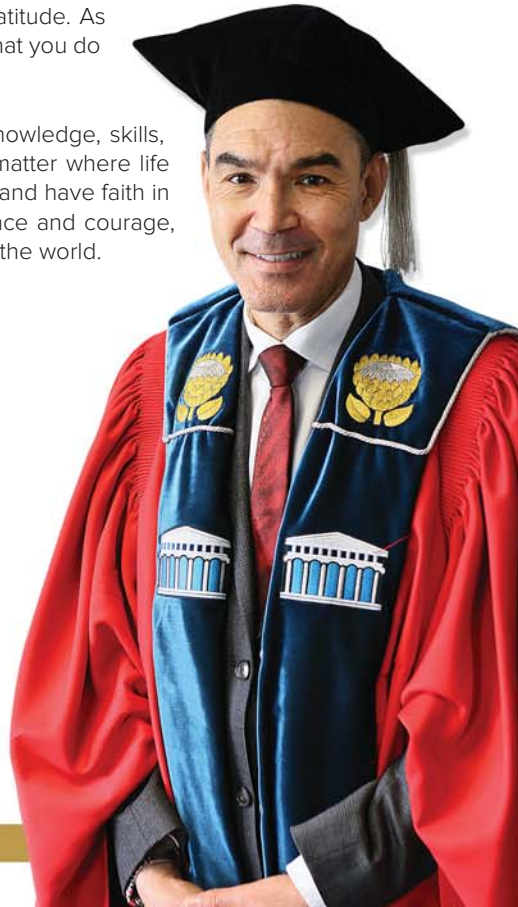

But it is not only a celebration of academic achievements, it is also a testament to your determination, adaptability, and perseverance. Against the backdrop of ongoing global challenges, you have each forged your path to success, embodying the true essence of what it means to be a student at UWC. Your journey to this day has undoubtedly been marked by obstacles, yet your resolve to overcome them has been inspirational. Whether navigating the complexities of remote learning, and the absence of traditional campus life, you have demonstrated exceptional strength and character.

Today, it is essential to acknowledge not only your hard-earned achievements but also the support of your parents, guardians, families, and loved ones. Their encouragement and belief in your potential have been pivotal to your journey. And for that, we extend our deepest gratitude. As you begin the next phase of your journey, know that you do so with our full support and admiration.

Always remember, you are equipped with the knowledge, skills, and values you need to make a difference, no matter where life takes you. Take pride in how far you have come, and have faith in how far you can go. Move forward with confidence and courage, ready to shape the future and make your mark in the world.

HISTORIC MILESTONES

UNIVERSITY OF THE WESTERN CAPE

1960: The University College of the Western Cape opens its doors.

1970: The institution gains independent university status and is allowed to award its own degrees and diplomas.

1975: Prof Richard van der Ross is appointed as UWC's first black Rector.

1978: UWC's Cape Flats Nature Reserve is declared a National Monument (now known as a provincial heritage site).

1987: New Rector and Vice-Chancellor, Prof Jakes Gerwel, declares UWC as the 'university of the left'. The University deracialises and opens its doors to African students.

UWC inaugurates its longest-serving Chancellor, Archbishop Desmond Tutu, who would serve for more than 25 years.

1990: UWC becomes the first university to award the late President Mandela an honorary doctorate upon his release from prison.

1994: Many academics from UWC join President Mandela's government and are appointed to ministerial and advisory positions, including its Rector, Prof Gerwel, who became the Director-General in the Presidency.

UWC's leadership takes part in writing the higher education policy for the incoming government. The South African interim Constitution and final Constitution are drafted at UWC.

1995: UWC launches its first website – joining the internet age before other universities in the Mother City.

UWC launches the Institute for Poverty, Land and Agrarian Studies (PLAAS) to engage in research, training, policy development and advocacy in relation to land reform, rural governance and natural resource management.

2002: Under the leadership of Rector and Vice-Chancellor, Prof Brian O'Connell, UWC successfully resists being merged. Instead, its Dentistry Faculty is merged with that of the University of Stellenbosch, making UWC the only dentistry faculty in the Western Cape.

2010: 10 SARChI chairs awarded to UWC, the highest number awarded to any university in SA that year (as of 2018, UWC hosts 17 SARChI Chairs).

2012: UWC launches its Technology Transfer Office to help promote the development and protection of the intellectual property of the University's research community, staff and students.

UWC is declared Africa's Greenest Campus in the inaugural African Green Campus Initiative Challenge.

2013: UWC signs the Berlin Declaration on Open Access in the Sciences and Humanities, joining hundreds of institutions around the world dedicated to supporting the principles of open access and working to achieve openness in publicly funded projects.

HISTORIC MILESTONES

UNIVERSITY OF THE WESTERN CAPE

2015: Prof Tyrone Pretorius is inaugurated as the new Rector and Vice-Chancellor.

2016: UWC's Centre for Humanities Research is awarded the Flagship on Critical Thought in African Humanities by the NRF.

UWC is ranked number 1 in Physical Science – not just in South Africa, but for Africa as a whole – in the 2016 Nature Index.

2017: A group of UWC students, led by Prof Nico Orce, conduct the second major African-led experiment at the CERN laboratory in Switzerland.

UWC's former Vice-Chancellor, Prof Brian O'Connell, receives the National Research Foundation's highest honour, the NRF Lifetime Achievement Award.

2018: UWC's Faculty of Dentistry - Africa's leading and largest dental school - launches a new state-of-the-art video conferencing system that will allow students to watch live surgeries in class or at home - a first for South Africa.

2019: UWC Rugby makes its debut in the Varsity Cup. The team makes history by becoming the first historically disadvantaged institution to qualify for the premier university rugby competition.

2020: UWC's South African National Bioinformatics Institute (SANBI), in collaboration with researchers from the National Institute for Communicable Diseases (NICD), sequenced the first SARS-COV-2 genome in South Africa, providing a genetic "fingerprint" helped us understand - and contain - the spread of COVID-19.

2022: Professor Russell H Kaschula is appointed as the Research Chair in Forensic Linguistics and Multilingualism – a first in Africa.

The UWC Main Hall is renamed the Jakes Gerwel Hall to honour this iconic leader.

Thesis:

Inter- and intra-lingual translations of complainants' police sworn statements:
A co-construction of a legal text in a South African context

Description:

The study explores the extent to which sworn statements are translated and co-constructed as legal texts, and the implications of such legal texts in as far as access to justice is concerned. Drawing on CDA, Narrative Theory and CA, the study specifically examines both the micro and macro linguistic aspects associated with the SAPS's current model of record construction. Through analysis of data derived from 30 audio-recorded police interviews, the findings demonstrate that the system of re-telling and/or translation of sworn statements is not in the best interests of justice. Instead, it entrenches the domination of some languages over others, perpetuating inequalities in the broader administration of justice, thus substantially reducing meaningful access to justice for speakers who have limited understanding of the languages of record.

Thesis:

Exploring multimodal literacy practices in language teaching at initial teacher education

Description:

The study explored ways in which language teacher students for initial education at higher education institutions can be equipped with multimodal literacy skills to provide effective teaching in a diverse and multilingual South African society. The major finding was that lecturers and students tended to concentrate more on technologies, such as iPads and computers than on how various resources such as multilingualism, words, sounds, images, graphs, colours and gestures can be effectively used across these devices. The study concluded with recommendations on how multimodal face-to-face and online teaching and learning can be integrated into a seamless teaching and learning experience. To achieve this, it is crucial to address existing inequalities in access to effective teacher training and digital resources.
