

GRADUATION CEREMONY

20 APRIL 2023

14H30

UNIVERSITY of the
WESTERN CAPE

MISSION STATEMENT

The University of the Western Cape is a national university, alert to its African and international context as it strives to be a place of quality, a place to grow. It is committed to excellence in teaching, learning and research, to nurturing the cultural diversity of South Africa, and to responding in critical and creative ways to the needs of a society in transition.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHANCELLOR

Dear Graduands,

Welcome to UWC's first graduation ceremonies of 2023. Congratulations to you and to all who supported you, your parents, guardians, loved ones and friends.

Today you will experience what it means to achieve success through hard work and determination. As you settle into your seat in the Jakes Gerwel Hall, take a moment to reflect on what this journey has meant to you. Think about the many hours you had to invest in your studies. As with any good investment, you are now reaping the rewards of the sacrifices you have made and the challenges you have overcome.

As you cast your mind's eye over your student experience here at the University of the Western Cape, remember your very first day on campus, your first lecture and tutorial. I'm sure you can recall the nervous anxiety you felt on that first day.

Now, at last, you have completed the journey of being a student. But many other new journeys await you. They will test your strength of character and, perhaps, your integrity and sense of purpose. They will also demand your time and dedication.

But take the lessons you have learned at UWC with you: remember the times when the road became almost too long, and it felt as if you were ready to give up. You didn't! You persevered and succeeded. You acquired vital skills such as patience, resilience and perseverance. These will stand you in good stead wherever you go in the years ahead.

Again, my heartfelt congratulations on your achievements and best wishes for your future endeavours.

+ Thabo Cecil Makgoba

THE MOST REVEREND DR THABO CECIL MAKGOBA
UWC CHANCELLOR

MESSAGE FROM THE RECTOR

Every time we celebrate important milestones at the University of the Western Cape, I do so with a deep sense of appreciation because, not so long ago, we didn't know when we would have the opportunity to gather together again.

This graduation ceremony therefore serves as a reminder of how uncertain our lives were and how fundamentally it had changed.

Even now, with the imminent threat of the COVID-19 pandemic behind us, the uncertainty of that time seems to linger.

It makes it then even more important to use moments such as these to reflect on how we did not allow defeatism to set in, but rather how we determined our way to get to this point.

You, our students, are gaining your diplomas and degrees are proof of that determination. Through your resilience and ability, you adapted to circumstances that were unfamiliar to you. Many of you might have wondered how you would get to this point while being deprived of the comfort and familiarity of campus, lectures and your classmates.

But here you are and we salute you. We also thank your parents, guardian and loved ones for supporting you throughout your academic careers and walking this challenging journey with you.

We are proud of you, our newest graduates and know that you will go out into the world with pride and determination, ready to take on the next chapter of your lives.

PROF. TYRONE PRETORIUS
RECTOR AND VICE-CHANCELLOR

1367 INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS are enrolled at UWC.

1960: The University College of the Western Cape opens its doors.

1970: The institution gains independent university status and is allowed to award its own degrees and diplomas.

1975: Prof Richard van der Ross is appointed as UWC's first black Rector.

1978: UWC's Cape Flats Nature Reserve is declared a National Monument (now known as a provincial heritage site).

1987: New Rector and Vice-Chancellor, Prof Jakes Gerwel, declares UWC as the 'university of the left'. The University deracialises and opens its doors to African students.

UWC inaugurates its longest-serving Chancellor, Archbishop Desmond Tutu, who would serve for more than 25 years.

1990: UWC becomes the first university to award the late President Mandela an honorary doctorate upon his release from prison.

1994: Many academics from UWC join President Mandela's government and are appointed to ministerial and advisory positions, including its Rector, Prof Gerwel, who became the Director-General in the Presidency.

UWC's leadership takes part in writing the higher education policy for the incoming government. The South African interim Constitution and final Constitution are drafted at UWC.

1995: UWC launches its first website – joining the internet age before other universities in the Mother City.

UWC launches the Institute for Poverty, Land and Agrarian Studies (PLAAS) to engage in research, training, policy development and advocacy in relation to land reform, rural governance and natural resource management.

2002: Under the leadership of Rector and Vice-Chancellor, Prof Brian O'Connell, UWC successfully resists being merged. Instead, its Dentistry Faculty is merged with that of the University of Stellenbosch, making UWC the only dentistry faculty in the Western Cape.

2010: 10 SARChI chairs awarded to UWC, the highest number awarded to any university in SA that year (as of 2018, UWC hosts 17 SARChI Chairs).

2012: UWC launches its Technology Transfer Office to help promote the development and protection of the intellectual property of the University's research community, staff and students.

UWC is declared Africa's Greenest Campus in the inaugural African Green Campus Initiative Challenge.

2013: UWC signs the Berlin Declaration on Open Access in the Sciences and Humanities, joining hundreds of institutions around the world dedicated to supporting the principles of open access and working to achieve openness in publicly funded projects.

HISTORIC MILESTONES

UNIVERSITY OF THE WESTERN CAPE

2015: Prof Tyrone Pretorius is inaugurated as the new Rector and Vice-Chancellor.

2016: UWC's Centre for Humanities Research is awarded the Flagship on Critical Thought in African Humanities by the NRF.

UWC is ranked number 1 in Physical Science – not just in South Africa, but for Africa as a whole – in the 2016 Nature Index.

2017: A group of UWC students, led by Prof Nico Orce, conduct the second major African-led experiment at the CERN laboratory in Switzerland.

UWC's former Vice-Chancellor, Prof Brian O'Connell, receives the National Research Foundation's highest honour, the NRF Lifetime Achievement Award.

2018: UWC's Faculty of Dentistry - Africa's leading and largest dental school - launches a new state-of-the-art video conferencing system that will allow students to watch live surgeries in class or at home - a first for South Africa.

2019: UWC Rugby makes its debut in the Varsity Cup. The team makes history by becoming the first historically disadvantaged institution to qualify for the premier university rugby competition.

2020: UWC's South African National Bioinformatics Institute (SANBI), in collaboration with researchers from the National Institute for Communicable Diseases (NICD), sequenced the first SARS-COV-2 genome in South Africa, providing a genetic "fingerprint" helped us understand - and contain - the spread of COVID-19.

2022: Professor Russell H Kaschula is appointed as the Research Chair in Forensic Linguistics and Multilingualism – a first in Africa.

The UWC Main Hall is renamed the Jakes Gerwel Hall to honour this iconic leader.

UWC launches the first football league for young girls called She-Bobo.
